Startup20 to kick off in Hyd, aims for global sync

Coalition Of Startups From All Countries

Times News Network

Hyderabad, in what promises to be a power-packed weekend for startups, Hyderabad is all set to play host to the two-day inception meeting of the first-ever G20 engagement group on startups – Startup20 – that has been initiated by India as part of its G20 presidency.

The group is aimed at creating a global narrative for supporting startups and enabling synergies between startups, corporates, investors, innovation agencies and other key ecosystem stakeholders. G20 Startup20, former NITI Aayog CEO Anandshankar Kant led, encompasses here on Friday.

He said Startup20 will serve as a coalition of startups from all countries that will work on three broad areas – foundations and alliances, finance as well as inclusiveness & sustainability.

The expected outcomes and key deliverables of Startup20 include the official policy communication, a startup handbook with a set of commonly agreed upon definitions and terminologies, a global innovation centre to foster collaborations across borders, and promotion of Startup20 as a global point of contact for startup ecosystems worldwide, Kant said.

Kant said that disruptive Indian startups, which have grown from just 450 in 2016 to 80,000 and counting, have used innovation and technology to transform the lives of citizens in many ways, be it fast payments, education, health, agriculture or any other sector.

"India is the only country that gives you large scale data of citizens to be able to find solutions for the problems of the poor. If India is able to find solutions to problems of 1.3 billion people, you are finding a solution not just for India but for the next 1.5 billion people of the world. That is what we are doing," Kant said. To kick off from Hyderabad on Saturday and Sunday Startup20 will travel to three other destinations such as Sikkim, Andaman and Bengaluru before culminating in the summit event at Gurugram, July 2023.

The series of meetings will work on developing policies and frameworks to ease startup financing and create a supportive environment by providing networking and pitching opportunities by involving investors from various countries.

The Startup20 delegates include those from G20 countries as well as nine observer countries, those from international organizations such as United Nations, World Bank, among others, as well as Indian delegates representing incubators, startups, investors and industry partners.

Pointing out that nearly 40% of the 20 attendees of the inception meeting will be startups, Atal Innovation Mission director Chintan Vaishnav said apart from serious deliberations the event will also showcase the local startup ecosystem, cultures and cuisines of the locations it travels to.

In Hyderabad, the delegation will check out a showcase of 60 startups at T-Hub, visit Golkonda Fort as well as Falaknuma Palace and also get a taste of Telangana's cuisine, art forms and handicrafts.

G20-Startup20 inception meeting opens today

The Hindu Bureau
HYDERABAD

A two-day inception meeting of Startup20, the new engagement group of G20 initiated by India, is all set to get under way in Hyderabad from January 28.

One of the initiatives of India after assuming G20 presidency, Startup20 has been mooted to serve as a forum for startups as also to create a global narrative for supporting startups and enabling synergies between the various stakeholders of the ecosystem. The primary objective of the engagement group is to harmonise the global startup ecosystem through a collaborative and forward-looking approach.

Briefing media here on Friday, G20 Sherpa Amitabh Kant, Secretary to DPIIT Anurag Jain and Startup20 India Chair Chintan Vaishnav said while the Startup20 activities are being kicked off with the meeting in Hyderabad, the summit event will be held in July in Gurugram.

In the intervening period, an event will be organised in Sikkim, Andaman and Bengaluru.

The group is poised to provide a common platform for startups from G20 member countries to develop actionable guidance in the form of building of capacities, identification of funding gaps, enhancement of employment opportunities, achievement of SDG targets and climate resilience and growth of an inclusive ecosystem, an official release.

Foundations and alliances, finance, and inclusiveness and sustainability will be the three main taskforces of Startup20.

The emphasis is to address challenges, develop policy frameworks to ease startup financing and to encourage cross-country collaborations.

Besides the G20 countries, the event will also have participants from observer nations. About 80 overseas delegates and 100 from India, including incubators, startups, investors, and industry partners, among others, are expected at the meeting.

area in the form of building enable's capacities, identification of funding gaps, enhancement of employment opportunities, achievement of SDG targets and climate resilience, and growth of an inclusive startup ecosystem.

The key themes of the inception meeting of Startup20, include foundations and alliances, finance inclusiveness and sustainability. The foundation and alliances meet is to generate definitions, and frameworks and to encourage cross-country collaboration that gives rise to global alliances among stakeholders of the startup ecosystem in G20 countries. The main objectives are to harmonise the global startup ecosystem through consultation meetings with experts from the startup ecosystem of the respective countries and to explore avenues of collaborations.

Similarly, the meeting on finance focuses on developing policies and frameworks to ease startup financing and create a supportive environment for startups by providing networking and pitching opportunities.

The main objective is to transfer VC/angels investments from the respective countries to initiate a dialogue around open definitions and terminology, a global innovation centre to foster collaborations across borders and the generation of startup20 as a global point of contact for startup ecosystem worldwide.

About 82 countries delegates and 300 Indians, including businessmen, startups, investors and industry partners among others are expected to participate in the meetings.

Apart from the G20 countries, delegates from also observer countries will also be taking part in the event.

The event agenda will be a mix of plenary and interactive sessions amongst the invited delegates who will discuss the key themes of startup20. The sessions will include experiences sharing among the G20 countries about their startup ecosystem through elevator pitches, closed-door meetings and open moderator discussions. As part of the two-day event, the delegates will be showcased the culture of Telangana, promoting 'Uppu Dalu' and Perini Nourama. Besides, a visit to Golkonda Fort. They will also be introduced to the startup ecosystem of about 50 Indian startups at T-Hub, Hyderabad, he said.

Expected sessions and key deliverables of startup20 include the official policy communication, startup handbook with a set of commonly

'Innovation strongest pillar to make India prosperous & developed nation by 2047'

Swati.Bharadwaj

Union minister for commerce and industry Piyush Goyal said India, through G20, was trying to transfer expertise on innovation so that IndiaStack can become the GlobalStack and transform the way people across the globe use technology.

Hyderabad: While the world grapples with multiple challenges, ranging from climate change to poverty, innovation is the key to solving these problems through creativity and ingenuity in entrepreneurship. Union minister of commerce & industry Piyush Goyal said at the inaugural of the inception meeting of Startup20, the first startup engagement group of G20.

He pointed out that innovation has been a catalytic force for the economy and will be strongest pillar of a developed and prosperous India by 2047.

Calling India's innovation of digital public goods like Co-Win, UPI and ONDC to tackle unique problems and ensure inclusive growth, Goyal said India, through G20, was trying to transfer expertise so that IndiaStack will become a very powerful body which will change the way the world recognises and respects startups," he said, expressing confidence that the two-day deliberations in Hyderabad would lay the foundation of a global startup revolution through actionable recommendations to G20 leaders.

Addressing a gathering of around 200 delegates from G20 countries as well as nine observer countries, international organisations and the Indian startup ecosystem via video message, he delivered the mantra of SENSE -- share, explore, nurture, serve and empower -- to trigger growth of the global startup ecosystem.

"When I see enthusiasm all around us, I get a sense of a changing mindset. I get a sense of urgency. I can sense Startup20 will become a very powerful body which will change the way the world recognises and respects startups," he said, expressing confidence that the two-day deliberations in Hyderabad would lay the foundation of a global startup revolution through actionable recommendations to G20 leaders.

He emphasised it's not the role of individual nations to support innovation, but will have to be a collective responsibility to nurture a global effort to incubate startup ecosystems in the world to create an inclusive, supportive and sustainable global startup ecosystem. "Innovation in today's world goes beyond achieving economic objectives as it also considers societal inclusion and environment sustainability," he said.

Goyal called for creation of an international network of mentors, investors and entrepreneurs to strengthen the global startup ecosystem so that it can support startups and act as a team to facilitate exchange of ideas, best practices, funding mechanisms and promote R&D collaborations. Talking about India's innovation journey he said over past seven years, since Startup India was launched, India has climbed 41 places to 40th rank in WIPO's global innovation index with rapid adoption by tier-2 and 3 markets, helping local startups push envelope with innovative ideas.

Piyush Goyal virtually addresses inaugural session of Startup20 inception meeting, highlights how startups can play a major role in addressing various global challenges

trihub@thehindu.com

Union Minister for Commerce and Industry Piyush Goyal on Saturday underscored the need to create an international network of mentors, investors and entrepreneurs to strengthen the global startup ecosystem.

The Minister, who was virtually addressing the inaugural session of the two-day inception meeting of Startup 20 that got underway at Hyderabad, said this highlighting how startups can play a major role in helping address various global challenges.

Startup20 is a new engagement group of G20 and proposed by India as part of its presidency of the grouping of countries, which contribute to around 85% of global GDP and account to two-third of the global population. Noting that individual nations will not be able to change the world, Mr Goyal said "It is the collective responsibility of the world to create an inclusive, supportive and sustainable startup ecosystem to address global challenges or" from climate change, poverty to inequality.

India was proud to highlight the progress and potential of the global startup ecosystem as the host nation of G20, he said, linking the initiative for startups in the country with the launch of Startup India programme, of the Finance 2024. The focus on fostering entrepreneurship and promoting newer ideas has helped the country in the areas of financial inclusion, education, as well as in the health against the pandemic. "We believe innovation will be strongest pillar to help to make India a developed nation in the next 25 years," the Minister said.

Innovation is poised to play a major role in creating economic growth as well as towards social inclusion and environmental sustainability. A focus on innovation and use of digital business (DBX) ecosystems helped India climb its ranks in the global innovation index, from 31, in seven years, he said.

Expecting the allocation over two days, to be concluded by the G20 leaders to deliberate and start a global startup framework, Mr Goyal hoped the Startup20 will become a powerful body that will change the way the world operates and respect for startups.

An official release said the Startup20 meeting will create a global network for supporting startups and fostering synergies between startups, corporates, investors, incubation agencies and other key ecosystem stakeholders.

Union Minister of State for Commerce and Industry Kishan Reddy said G-20 under India's presidency aims to set the course for driving responsibly, sharing best practices and achieving shared outcomes. India is the ideal location for today's startup ecosystem as we have close to 65,000 registered startups with 800 plus unicorns at a consolidated valuation of $250 billion. With the third highest number of startups in the world, it is only a matter of time before India leads the way," he said.

Union Minister of State for Commerce and Industry Kishan Reddy, Secretary to the Department of Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade Anurag Jain, CEO of SIDBI, Anand Kumar, Director, IIT Hyderabad, also addressed the inaugural session.

Saturday was the first day of the two-day event. After the inception meeting in Hyderabad, there will be three track meetings in Sikkim, Andaman and Nicobar and Bengaluru. The summit meeting would be held in Gurgaon.

Kishan Reddy said India was the ideal location for the start-up engagement group. "We have close to 85,000 registered start-ups with 100 plus unicorns at a combined valuation of $350 billion," he said. He invited start-ups to help governments find innovative solutions and new ideas in preserving the rich cultural heritage, and to use new technologies to providing an immersive experience to tourists. The Startup20 inception meeting aspires to start a series of events to create a global narrative for supporting start-ups, and enabling synergies between start-ups, corporates, investors, innovation agencies and key ecosystem stakeholders. The primary objective is to harmonise the global startup ecosystem through a collaborative and forward-looking approach.

Startup 20 of G20 gets going in good stead

HANS NEWS SERVICE

HYDERABAD: The much-awaited inaugural session of Startup20 – the newest engagement group of the G20 India presidency began here on Saturday. The Startup20 inception meeting kickstarted a series of events to create a global narrative for supporting start-ups and enabling synergies between start-ups, corporates, investors, innovation agencies and other key ecosystem stakeholders.

The first-day meetings were primarily focused to harmonize the global start-up ecosystem through a collaborative and forward-looking approach. To provide a common platform for startups from G20 member countries to come together to develop actionable guidance in the form of the building of enabler's capacities, identification of funding gaps, enhancement of employment opportunities, achievement of SDG2 targets and climate resilience, and growth of an inclusive ecosystem. Continued on Page 4 collaborations in research and development. Supporting innovation should be the collective responsibility of nations, he said.

He gave the mantra of 'Sense' — Share, Explore, Nurture, Serve and Empower — for growth of start-ups. "Growing participation from Tier 2 & 3 markets that are swiftly embracing latest technology has pushed the envelope for local start-ups in India," he pointed out. India's G20 Sherpa Amitabh Kant, joint secretary of the department of promotion of industry and internal trade Shruti Sinha and Startup20 chair Dr Chintan Vaishnavy also spoke at the event. The delegates also visited T-Hub on Saturday where principal secretary, IT, Jayesh Ranjan gave his keynote address.

Union Minister of State for Commerce and Industry Som Prakash addressed the delegates of the meeting. Earlier, in the inaugural session addressed by Dr Chintan Vaishnav, the Startup20 Chair. He introduced and set the context for the task forces of Startup20. Dr Vaishnav discussed the expected outcomes from India's Council Chairs. The Global Start-up Revolution Session, with international delegates, discussed their respective countries' ecosystems. Excursions for T-Hub, for the Telangana Innovation and Startup Immersion, were also organised. Amitabh Kant, India's G20 Sherpa, addressed the delegates on the Startup20 Engagement Group and Anurag Jain, Secretary of the Department of Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade; and Parameswaran Iyer, CEO, NITI Aayog. Day one of the Startup20 meetings ended with a grand Gala Dinner at Taj Falaknuma India's heritage and culture were showcased along with art forms such as Perini Natyam.

Strengthen global start-up ecosystem: Goyal

Addressing delegates and invitees of the inception meeting of the Startup G20 group through virtual mode, Piyush Goyal said, it is the collective responsibility of the world to create an inclusive, supportive and sustainable start-up ecosystem to address global challenges.

Further, he noted that innovation would be the strongest pillar that would help build a developed India in the 'Amritkal' and highlighted how the growing participation from Tier 2 and 3 markets that are swiftly embracing the latest technologies has pushed the development of local start-ups in India. Piyush Goyal gave a new mantra of 'SENSE'- Share, Explore, Nature, Serve and Empower for the growth of start-ups.

"Innovation in today's world goes beyond achieving mere economic objectives as it also considers societal inclusion and environmental sustainability," he said.

Further, he said developing nations must transform themselves from being destinations for low-cost, outsourced software and support services, to becoming global Tech and Innovation hubs.

Youth wants to be job creators than job seekers: Kishan

He further said India is emerging as the land of job creators and not job seekers. India is the ideal location for today's start-up engagement group as the country has close to 85,000 registered start-ups with 100 plus unicorns at a combined valuation of $350 billion, he added.

Indian start-ups are innovating, investing and inventing new products and experiences. The success of these start-up ecosystems symbolises the passion, progress and priority of the government in encouraging and hand holding them. Kishan Reddy invited start-ups to help find innovative solutions and new ideas for preserving the country's rich cultural heritage and guiding through the use of new technologies in providing an immersive experience to our tourists.

हमारे युवा नौकरी करने के बजाय नौकरी देंगे : किशन रेड्डी

हैदराबाद, 28 जनवरी (स्वतंत्र वार्ता)। केंद्रीय पर्यटन और संस्कृति मंत्री जी, किशन रेड्डी ने आज कहा कि भारत के युवा नौकरी करने के बजाय दूसरों को नौकरी देने के लिए अपने जीवन में आगे बढ़ रहे हैं। उन्होंने कहा कि भारतीय युवाओं द्वारा स्टार्टअप कंपनियों की स्थापना से उन्हें नए विचारों के साथ आने में मदद मिल रही है। किशन रेड्डी ने यहां आयोजित जी-20 स्टार्टअप एंजलमेंट ग्रुप की बैठक में एक सभा को संबोधित करते हुए कहा कि केंद्र सरकार भारत को आगे ले जाने के लिए एक रणनीतिक योजना लेकर आई है, जो स्टार्टअप कंपनियों के लिए सबसे बड़े केंद्रों में से एक है। उन्होंने कहा कि स्टार्टअप सम्मेलन के लिए भारत सही मंच है और कहा कि देश में 85,000 पंजीकृत स्टार्टअप हैं। उन्होंने कहा कि देश में 100 स्टार्टअप कंपनियां हैं, जिनका आजार मूल्यांकन 350 अरब डॉलर है। रेड्डी ने कहा कि

देश की युवा आबादी इसकी ताकत है और कहा कि युवा देश के भविष्य को उजलवा बनाने के लिए नवीन विचारों और नई तकनीकों के साथ आगे बढ़ रहे हैं। उन्होंने कहा कि केंद्र सरकार स्टार्टअप के लिए फंड अफ फ्रेंड्स और स्टार्टअप को प्रोत्साहित करने के लिए स्टार्टअप इंडिया खीड फंड जैसी योजनाएं लेकर आई है। उन्होंने कहा कि एकडीआई में वृद्धि देश में स्टार्टअप इको-सिस्टम को प्रोत्साहित कर रही है। उन्होंने भविष्यवाणी की कि भारत की स्टार्टअप कंपनियां अगले 25 वर्षों में देश की जीडीपी में महत्वपूर्ण भूमिका निभाएंगी।
